

IFLA NEWS

Indigenous Ecosystem Corridors and Nodes

IFLA are implementing a project which is a co-operative effort with the UIA, Union International de Architecture. Tony Williams (IFLA Europe President) is joint convener with Prof. Allen Rodger in Melbourne. We now wish to 'splash' it around a little, you can view the report here.

We intend to feed the proposition into the two international organisations through their Presidents (IFLA) and Vice-Presidents (UIA). We also hope that we can gain feedback and advice from the professions in our home countries, Ireland and Australia. Our intention is therefore to encourage these professional bodies to explore how best to advance the proposition and help us with their advice so as to assist others around the world. As a beginning, we are inviting national associations of architects and landscape architects in Australia and Ireland to help us. In time, we will include other disciplines such as ecologists, engineers, planners and the host of professions involved in the planning, design, construction and maintenance of the landscape of both urban and rural areas. Connecting the countryside to the town.....It is also in keeping with the resolutions and spirit of the Quito meeting. Please contact IFLA Secretariat or Tony Williams directly if you are interested in helping, we need active volunteers to make this a reality.
