Change the world through design

The deadline for submitting proposals for the IFLA World Congress and World Design Summit is this Sunday, 4th June 2017 at 23:59 (EST).

The Congress is looking for answers to the questions. “What are the innovative design ideas and actions that could bring about better futures? How can design in all its facets respond to issues as a transformational agent that supports cultural, political, economic, environmental and everyday societal needs?”

By submitting your proposal you will take part in an unprecedented international event and have the opportunity for cross-disciplinary engagement and networking.

There are six driving themes of Design for Participation, Design for Earth, Design for Beauty, Design for Transformation, Design for Sale? and Design for Extremes.

Proposals are accepted in their broadest form: a paper, a presentation about an idea, a concept, a project or current research. The Call is open to scholars, practitioners and concerned parties from all spectrums of the design disciplines, including: architecture, graphic design, industrial design, interior design, landscape architecture, urban planning and interstitial or hybrid practices.

The Proposals must provoke paradigm shifts and propose how we might rethink challenging world issues through design processes and their applications.

They must provide innovative insights on how to attain change, therefore contributing to the objectives of the Summit: that is, to demonstrate the tremendous transformative power of design to create viable solutions for
